Senate Committee Approves Bill To Regulate Coffee Exchange

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Agriculture committee today approved the "Gillette bill" to put the New York Coffee Exchange under federal regulation.

If it finally becomes law, the bill will subject coffee trading on the New York Exchange to the same type of speculative curbs as now apply to such commodities as wheat, oats, butter, and eggs.

The committee approved the bill unanimously, clearing the way for action later by the Senate. The bill was introduced by Sen. Guy M. Gillette (D-Iowa).

Two representatives of the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange, where the United States coffee trading is done, were on record against the Gillette bill. They said the coffee exchange's own rules are sufficient to keep speculation within reasonable bounds.

Joseph M. Mehl, administrator of the Commodity Exchange Administration, which would police coffee trading if the bill is adopted, told the committee Tuesday one thing is certain: "There's no way I know of that the bill could hurt the American people."

Whether it would help, Mehl said, is another matter—what with the source of supply lying exclusively in foreign countries, principally

Molotov Asks German Vote on Treaty, Army

Unveils Detailed Election Plan at Big Four Meeting

BERLIN (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov proposed today that the German people be given their choice, in a national referendum, between a peace treaty and membership in the European army plan.

The army plan would be linked in the referendum with the Bonn peace contract concluded by the Western Allies with the West German government. This contract would be superseded by any formal treaty.

Molotov addressed the ninth session of the Big Four foreign ministers conference for one hour, attacking the European Defense Community project, which provides for inclusion of German troops in Western defense, and Allied proposals for free all-German elections.

Unveiled New Plan

As for Russia, he said "we are devoting proper attention to the question of free all-German elections."

Western sources had said, during the four-hour secret session, that Molotov unveiled a new detailed election plan, which he promised Tuesday night.

Before Molotov spoke, a Western diplomat said:

"Today's meeting will be the final test whether the Soviets have come here to make any real progress on the German problem as a whole or will maintain their previous policy."

The foreign ministers met in the Soviet embassy in Communist-run East Berlin.

For some unknown reason, the Communist police guards outside the embassy were heavily reinforced. The blue-uniformed policemen lined the sidewalk at five-day intervals.

A clue to the reinforcement might be contained in the report in a West Berlin newspaper that at least 67 East Germans had been arrested in seven cities for criticizing Soviet policy at the meeting.

Wiedemann Again Seeks Independence Liquor License

L. C. Wiedemann, whose effort to obtain a license to sell liquor in Independence township has been rebuffed by the county liquor control commissioner and the circuit court, has applied again for a license.

The application has been filed in the office of County Clerk Don B. Garrison.

Last fall Wiedemann applied for a license and his application was denied by William Alfred Smith of Galatia, liquor control commissioner of Saline county.

Then, through his attorneys, he filed a petition in circuit court seeking a writ of mandamus that would compel Smith to issue him a license.

Attorneys for Smith then filed a motion to dismiss Wiedemann's petition and arguments were held in November. On Jan. 15 Judge C. Ross Reynolds upheld the motion to dismiss on grounds his court lacked jurisdiction in the appeal, which threw Wiedemann's petition out of court.

Wiedemann has been represented by Atty. D. F. Rumsey and Atty. Lloyd H. Melton in the matter, Smith by Atty. Charles H. Thompson, Atty. George B. Lee and State's Attorney Glen O. Jones.

House Committee Approves Bill to Join Canada in St. Lawrence Seaway Project

By United Press

The House Public Works committee today approved a Senate bill to let this country join with Canada in building a giant seaway connecting the Atlantic with the Great Lakes via the St. Lawrence river.

Chairman George A. Dondero (R-Mich.) said the vote was 23-6—a surprising margin for the measure in a committee which in past years had been content to bury it.

Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr., predicted the bill will get to the House floor for a vote in March. It is expected to run into considerably more opposition there than it did in committee.

The bill would set up a federal corporation to borrow 105 million dollars from the Treasury to pay the U. S. share of the seaway's cost. Under an amendment adopted by the House group and said to be acceptable to the Senate, all U. S. revenue from the seaway would be earmarked for repayment of its cost to the taxpayer.

Dondero hailed the amendment as a historic "first." In the past, he said, the country has spent billions for public works "but not one dime has ever been returned to the Treasury."

Other congressional news: First Vetoes: President Eisenhower vetoed three bills to authorize special commemorative 50-cent pieces. He said enactment of such measures would bring on a flood of similar proposals. They were his first vetoes of this session of Congress. So far he has approved three measures.

Economic: William McChesney Martin Jr., chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, advised Congress to give tax relief to business rather than to consumers. He told the congressional Economic committee there is more need to stimulate production than to boost buying power. Martin said his attitude toward the state of the economy was "cautious optimism." He warned against scaring the country into a depression.

Ice Boxes: Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) introduced a bill to require inside latches on refrigerators, ice boxes, and freezers shipped in interstate commerce. His aim is to cut down the number of children suffocated at play by accidentally trapping themselves in abandoned ice boxes.

McCarthy: Chairman Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) of the Senate Permanent Investigating subcommittee stuck by his claim that he had evidence some government official tried to "shake down" a friendly foreign government for $150,000. The State Department said flatly none of its employees were involved in the reported incident.

Beeson: Albert C. Beeson's nomination to the National Labor Relations Board has struck a new snag. The Senate Labor committee wants to find out his pension status with his former firm.

To Move Eldorado Mine Rescue Station To Harrisburg

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—State Mines Director Ben H. Schull today announced plans to move mine rescue stations now located at Eldorado and Bend.

Schull said the Eldorado station will be moved to Harrisburg to "put it in a closer proximity with the active coal mines," and the Bend station will be combined with the rescue station at Springfield.

The director said the merger of the Bend and Springfield stations will permit the release of two men to travel to coal mines and nearby towns to conduct mine safety classes.

Bend now has one man on 24-hour call and the Springfield station has two men, Schull said. He said neither station now can spare men to go out and teach mine safety.

Schull also reported that the mine rescue station at Herrin already has been combined with the Benton station.

In observance of the eighth anniversary of the Eldorado-Raleigh Park District a dinner meeting will be held Monday, Feb. 15, with Bob Miley of Galatia, superintendent of parks and memorials, State of Illinois, guest speaker. It has been announced by Mrs. Jessie B. Evans, secretary of the park district.

The meeting will be held at the Town House, Eldorado.

Area legislators, circuit judges who were on the bench at the time the park district was formed, former park board members and others have been invited to attend the park district's birthday dinner.

County Judge Ralph Choisser, who with the circuit judges, appoint the board members, will be master of ceremonies and circuit judges expected to attend include C. Ross Reynolds, Clarence Wright and former Judge Roy Bradley.

Others invited to be present include Congressman C. W. (Runt) Bishop, State Senator Arthur Van Hoesen, Representative Paul Powell, Representative Gordon Kerr, Representative W. O. Verhines. It is to be a ladies' night and the guest list includes wives of the judges and legislators expected to be present.

Louis Aaron

Aaron Elected Historical Group President

Louis Aaron, principal of the Eldorado Lincoln grade school, was elected president of the Saline County Historical society Tuesday night, Feb. 2. He won the approval of the members last month when he gave an interesting talk on "Shawneetown and its Old Homes" and illustrated by showing color slides. He was an enthusiastic and tireless worker during the spring tour of the State Historical society.

Other officers are Sceriel Thompson, first vice, Mrs. Fred Lindsay, second vice, Mrs. Ila Choiser, third vice, James Bond, assisted by Mrs. Bond, secretary. Board members are Ray Altmeir, George Davenport, W. H. Farley, John Foster, Fred Wasson and E. B. Webster.

The society gave unanimous approval to resuming affiliation with the Southern Illinois Historical society. This gives the local members the rights, privileges and benefits of two independent societies without additional fees.

The program was under the direction of Professor Harold E. Briggs, head of the history department at S. I. U. He explained the interest of Southern Illinois university as an area service institution ready to assist the towns of southern Illinois in local developments with the assistance of area service departments of SIU. Several members of the historical society from Eldorado are active in "Operation Bootstrap," Eldorado's development program.

Prof. Briggs introduced Dr. N. Caldwell, professor of history, past president of Southern Illinois Historical society, delegate to the Mississippi Valley Historical society, and author of several studies on southern Illinois history, who gave interesting suggestions on the collection and preservation of the wealth of history in southern Illinois.

Many members mentioned rare documents that might be microfilmed without charge with a copy for Saline County History museum. There were also suggestions on assistance from the university on a better 100 page journal of Southern Illinois Historical society.

Plans for co-operation of the two societies in completing "Operation Stonefort Road" were discussed.

After the meeting there was a reception with refreshments served by Mesdames D. L. Shain, Paul Hatfield, Louis Aaron, E. B. Webster, W. H. Farley and L. O. Trigg.

Asks Donations of Books, Equipment for Duncan School Pupils

R. Dale Wilson, county superintendent of schools, has sent out a letter to school districts of the county asking for donations of books, seats and other equipment that can be used by pupils of Duncan school, who will be moving to a church next week for classes.

Duncan school and all its contents were destroyed by fire Monday morning. The school, taught by John B. Owens, is in the southwestern part of Independence township.

Improvements planned for this year include additional playground equipment at the Eldorado park and lights in Raleigh.

Members of the park district board of directors are Lavern Buntin, chairman; Jesse B. Evans, secretary; J. Ward Barnes, treasurer; Ernie Webster, Richard Carpenter, Eldorado mayor, John D. Upchurch and Raleigh mayor, Fred Dodd.

Says Something Must Be Done For Situation

President Restates Opposition to Bricker Amendment

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today something should be done to pull down the price of butter.

The President told his news conference he is unable to forecast the government plans for the butter market pending further studies by the Agriculture Department. But he said butter could not be priced out of the market and still be consumed widely.

Something has to be done about this situation, he said.

There were these other news highlights:

1. The President restated his unrelenting opposition to any constitutional amendment which could alter the present balance of power between the various branches of the government. Speaking of the specific point of the treaty-restricting Bricker amendment, he said he would be willing to accept some change in the wording of the Constitution to allay any fears of misuse of the Constitution. But he would not compromise one word on his opposition to legislation which would alter the original intent of the Constitution.

Wants Lower Coffee Prices

2. He promised to disclose shortly whether the government will make public a breakdown on the reasons why 2,200 persons were removed from the federal payroll as security risks. Mr. Eisenhower said at this point he could not say whether a breakdown might be possible.

3. He joined Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson in deploring the spreading of hysterical fears over atomic weapons. Wilson said Tuesday he wished Americans would stop "rattling" the atom bomb.

4. The President wants the price of coffee brought down to what he regards as a reasonable level. The President said he had no detailed report on the coffee price investigation being conducted by the Federal Trade Commission.

No Fighting Force in Indochina

5. He declined to say whether the United States government has custody of Yuri Rastvorov, Soviet diplomat reportedly in American hands on Okinawa. But he did not deny reports the Russian is in American custody.

6. He said the United States has a technical and training military mission in Indochina, but emphasized this was not a fighting force and that this government maintained similar missions in many countries of the world.

7. On the Big Four conference in Berlin, Mr. Eisenhower said experience so far has not given any great reason to assume that it will be a tremendous success. But he said we must keep trying and that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is doing just that.

Mr. Eisenhower's remark on butter prices was evoked by a question about the new butter price support program which the government is drafting for the coming year. The government has about 265 million pounds in storage. Some fears have been expressed that some of the butter may begin to spoil soon.

See Cut in Support Prices

The President said as far as he knew no price decision has been made. But he added with apparent feeling that butter cannot be priced out of the market and still be consumed widely enough to reduce current surpluses.

He did not go into details. Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson said he doubts if his conscience will permit him to continue supporting butter prices at 90 per cent of parity. That apparently foreshadows a cut in the price support figure.

According to the Agriculture Department, the average retail butter price is 79 cents a pound. The average oleomargarine price is 28 to 30 cents. The wholesale price, which reflects government support at 90 per cent of parity, has been around 67 cents a pound.

Grant Increase in Railway Express Rates in Illinois

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—A 20 per cent increase in Railway Express Agency rates within Illinois was authorized today.

The Illinois Commerce Commission said its order granting the increase compared with similar hikes in interstate rates approved by the Inter-state Commerce Commission last August.

About 95 per cent of all express shipments in Illinois are affected by the order, the ICC said. Specifically excluded from the increase were shipments of milk and cream and similar commodities; newspapers, magazines and periodicals; corpses, and carload shipments of race horses and other livestock.

DREW PEARSON Says:
What's Behind Current Recession: Big Chunk Out Of Government Orders Must Be Replaced Sometime; Gouzenko Believes Russia's Secret Code Unbreakable.

WASHINGTON.—Though the nation's business is everybody's business, the testimony now being given before the Joint Congressional Committee on the economic report is in secret. A parade of economists, official and unofficial, beginning with the President's top economic adviser, Dr. Arthur Burns, is trying to spell out what's behind the current recession.

Though they haven't said it in these exact words, many of the economists agree that the basic reason boils down to this: When you take thirty billions in defense orders out of the economy, you have to replace it with something else.

Spelled out in more detailed

Clark Gable to Break 23-Year Ties with MGM

HOLLYWOOD.—Clark Gable has returned to Hollywood after 2 1/2 years, but he's a man without a job or even a girl friend.

The "king" of MGM revealed today he will abdicate. He will not renew his studio contract when it expires March 3 "because I think it's better for the studio and better for me." After 23 years at the big studio, he said, he wants to free-lance.

Gable made his "no ties" resolution complete by not bringing French model Suzanne Goddard home from Europe as his bride.

"She's a nice girl," hedged Gable with the famous grin that has sent female fans into sighs for two decades.

"But marriage, I haven't thought much about it one way or the other."

He also hasn't given a thought, he went on, as to what movies he'll work in after his contract expires.

Reopens Home

"After I finish this present picture, I think I'll take a little holiday," he reflected. "I won't make any plans until after that."

"I'm leaving the studio because I think I've been here too long. There's not a chance I'd sign with MGM again. I want to work when I feel like it. If MGM comes up with a good story, well, I'll come back here for a picture."

"I also like the idea of making pictures overseas, in the locale where the story occurs. If a good story comes up with a European background, I'd be glad to go overseas again."

"I'm not going to form my own movie company. But perhaps one of these days I may take a try at directing a movie."

Gable has reopened his suburban Encino home "because I haven't seen it for more than two years and it's my home to come back to. Friends say he had the furnishings taken out that his ex-wife, Lady Sylvia Ashley, installed during their unhappy marriage."

Today Gable is winding up final scenes for his last picture under his MGM contract, "Betrayed," which was filmed mostly overseas. Though the husky actor is a familiar fixture at MGM, he still caused a flutter even among other players when he strode into the commissary for lunch.

But the graying Gable, who turned 53 Monday, hasn't dated any of the local beauties since his return.

terms, the 1952 budget called for $60,000,000 of new defense equipment. The 1955 budget calls for $30,900,000,000. This is basic hardware. This represents millions of dollars worth of steel, copper, aluminum, and all labor that goes with it.

And when you take that big a chunk out of government orders, you have to replace it with schools, housing, bridges, roads, or something else. Otherwise the economy is bound to slump.

ADVISERS WARNED

Inside fact is that Dr. Burns has been giving private warnings for some time that business was slipping. Burns is the ex-Columbia professor, born in Austria, who was named chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers last spring after the White House at first said Ike didn't need any economic advisers.

The President, however, was reminded that it was up to Congress, not him, to decide whether he needed economic advisers, and that Congress required him, by law, to have three advisers for the purpose of helping him head off depression.

Ike thereupon acquiesced, appointed Dr. Burns, but didn't get around to appointing the other two economists required by law until late last summer.

Now the council is working overtime.

They do not agree with Ray Henle, commentator for big Republican contributor Joe Pew and the Sun Oil Company that to warn of a business recession is Communist propaganda. On the contrary, they believe that to head off recession you have to examine the economic factors carefully, as they did in Ike's own economic message to Congress. Furthermore they do not agree with some of the hucksters immediately around the President that the way to prevent a recession is to repeat over and over again: "We cannot have a recession."

The present recession is probably no thing to worry about provided it isn't permitted to go any deeper. The best way to prevent it, they suggest privately, is to make sure that the axing of government spending is not too sudden and to replace defense spending with at least some peacetime spending.

UNBREAKABLE RUSSIAN CODE

One interesting thing Igor Gouzenko told me during my visits with him in Canada was the secret Russian code is unbreakable.

This, he explained, is because a virtually different code is used for almost every sentence. This was also why the Russian embassy in Canada was completely brazen about sending the atomic secrets they stole in North America and even the names of some of their spies back to Moscow by cable. Ability to break the secret code of a foreign nation, especially in wartime, is the next best thing to having a well-trained army and navy. And on at least one occasion, the secret code of the United States may have been stolen by the Soviet.

This was when the two British diplomats, McLean and Burgess, suddenly disappeared behind the Iron Curtain, taking with them various secrets of British-American diplomacy. While they had no access to the American code, they did have decoded copies of American diplomatic documents, which when matched with coded copies picked off the airwaves, might have led to breaking our code. That was why 50 couriers were immediately sent from Washington carrying a new code to 50 different embassies abroad immediately after McLean and Burgess slipped behind the Iron Curtain.

JAP CODE BROKEN

During the war the United States broke the Japanese secret code almost at will. This was what led to American victory in the Battle of Midway, where the U. S. Navy, intercepting a Japanese message, learned that its fleet was converging near Midway for an all-out attack on the United States. Almost the entire U. S. fleet in the Pacific was immediately rushed to Midway, resulting in a victory which crippled the Japanese fleet for keeps.

A Chicago Tribune newsman aboard one of the American vessels almost revealed that we had the Japanese code by publishing the entire list of the Japanese fleet—which could only have been obtained by breaking their code. A grand jury was called to prosecute the Tribune, but dropped in the end, when the Japanese failed to realize the significance of the published list.

If Gouzenko is right—and having spent years handling Russian codes, he should know—that the Soviet code is unbreakable, it throws light on why our intelligence is so poor inside the Soviet.

The most productive flourspar region in the world is in Hardin County, Illinois.

Joe Parks returned from a hunting trip and reported he was shot at three different times by hunters who thought he was a deer. Joe said they were glad to see him alive but seemed a little disappointed in their shooting.

Eisenhower and Wilson Reveal Atomic Weapons Are Now 'Conventional'

WASHINGTON.—Two great facts about America's bold new atomic policy were underlined today in statements of President Eisenhower and Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson.

One is that the United States has built atom weapons so firmly into the basic fabric of its defense system that they now are "conventional"—to be used in little wars like Korea as well as a possible world conflict.

The other fact is there is nothing inconsistent about building an atomic arsenal and at the same time pressing for the purely peaceful use of nuclear energy because this country is neither committed to atomic disarmament nor considers it possible at present.

Mr. Eisenhower made his statement in an introduction to a film of the first hydrogen explosion in history at Eniwetok Atoll in the fall of 1952.

Expect Airborne H-Bomb Test
Although the blast dwarfed World War II atom explosions, he said it was merely a "stage" in the steady improvement of nuclear weapons. The statement heightened congressional expectations that an airborne H-bomb will be dropped in the forthcoming atomic tests at the Eniwetok - Bikini Proving Ground.

"As our atomic weapons steadily improve," the President continued, "the United States will continue to strive patiently and prayerfully to speed the day when this gigantic energy shall become exclusively the servant of peace."

"These improvements will be continued—in the hope that our weapons will deter war and in the determination that we shall be able to retaliate immediately with crushing effect if the war should come."

The film was shown to a group of senators Tuesday and to representatives today.

No Disarmament Commitment

Wilson was the first U. S. official to address himself publicly to the apparent—but not real—inconsistency of making atomic weapons a permanent part of U. S. defenses and at the same time pushing the President's atoms-for-peace plan.

At a news conference late Tuesday, the secretary said he was "not conscious" of any American commitment on atomic disarmament, something Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has virtually ruled out because of Russia's attitude. Any such plan, Wilson said, would require revision of the nation's new military-atomic strategy.

He gave the impression that atomic disarmament would have to be part of a general disarmament covering all major weapons. He pointed out that atomic weapons no longer are "just big bombs."

They are available for all sorts of tactical, battlefield uses, he said, and it would be hard to find "any reason" not to use them in Korea-type wars.

"NICE WORK IF..."—Director Edward Ludwig doesn't seem to mind his "work" when he has to muddy the legs of beautiful Rhonda Fleming for a scene in "Jivaro." Paramount's new 3-D adventure drama, Fernando Lamas co-stars with Rhonda in the story, which is laid in the wilds of the Amazon among the head-hunting Jivaro Indians.

Miss Mary Dorothy Westbrook, David W. Miley Married in Candlelight Service

Mr. and Mrs. David W. Miley

In a candlelight service held Sunday afternoon, Jan. 24, at 2:30 o'clock, at the Methodist church in Harrisburg, Miss Mary Dorothy Westbrook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Westbrook, became the bride of David W. Miley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miley.

The Rev. W. L. Cummins officiated at the double-ring ceremony in the presence of a large group of relatives and friends of the two families. The altar was decorated with emerald, jade and huckleberry flanked by standards of white gladioli and light pink carnations. Candelabra with light pink candles formed a background for the decorations. Bows of pink satin marked the pews of the two main aisles.

At the organ Mrs. Robert Norman played a prelude of appropriate wedding music and the two traditional wedding marches. She also accompanied the soloist, John L. Schork, who sang "I Love Thee" by Grieg and Schumann's "Thou Art Like a Flower," and, with the bride couple kneeling, "The Lord's Prayer" as a benediction.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride was gown in white tulle and French chantilly lace over satin, fashioned with a lace V-shaped neck of nylon tulle and close fitting sleeves of French chantilly lace tapering to a point over the hand. The full skirt, attached to the fitted bodice of French chantilly lace, was of permanent pleated tulle with an overskirt of lace. A tiara of French chantilly lace secured the veil of matching nylon tulle. A white orchid with streamers of hyacinth florets and velvet ribbon was carried on a white Biele. The bride wore a single strand of pearls.

The bride was attended by Miss Charlene Parks as matron of honor. Miss Nancy Doty of Chicago, Miss Bonita Booten and Miss Barbara Henley served as bridesmaids. The maid of honor and the bridesmaids carried light pink carnations formed in a colonial bouquet to complement their blue velvet waltz length gowns. Headresses were also of pink carnations on pink velvet crowns.

As flower girl, Miss Patty Kligman, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Kligman, St. Louis, Mo., was attired in a light pink nylon net over satin floor length gown. She showered rose petals in the path of the bride from a miniature straw basket; the handle of which was decorated with a satin bow. Her headress was of pink rose buds.

Attending the bridegroom was Richard D. Miley, brother of the bridegroom, as best man, with Earl Grossman of Champaign, Joseph Sabatella of Chicago, Phillip Withrow of Williamsville, Ill., Ken Shanklin of Toluca, Ill., all classmates of Mr. Miley at the University of Illinois, W. T. Westbrook, brother of the bride, and Joe David Upchurch ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Westbrook chose a dress of navy blue crepe with blue accessories and an orchid as a shoulder corsage. Mrs. Miley, mother of the bridegroom, wore a pink wool jersey dress with black accessories and a shoulder corsage of talisman roses.

Immediately following the ceremony a large number of guests attended the reception held in Wesley Center.

Table hostesses were Mrs. R. J. Kligman, Mrs. James Sims, Mrs. Charles Henn, Mrs. David Bowen Jr., Mrs. Thomas Clore, Mrs. Fred Nellans, Mrs. R. Dale Wilson, Mrs. John Woolcott, Mrs. Robert L. Baker, Mrs. Dean Hill, Miss Carol McClelland, and Miss Janet Cook. Miss Barbara Wiley furnished background music at the piano.

The bridegroom graduated this month from the University of Illinois. The bride is now attending Southern Illinois university.

After the reception the couple left for a short wedding trip to an undisclosed destination. For her going away outfit Mrs. Miley chose a charcoal grey wool dress with black accessories and a light blue coat. Her corsage was a white orchid.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kligman and daughter, Patty, Jack Kligman, and Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Reed of St. Louis, Mo., Mrs. J. D. Miley Jr. of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Webb, Mt. Vernon, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Webb of Carmi, Mrs. Lee Deadman of Centralia, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Warton, Scott Field, Mr. and Mrs. Fulford Morris and son, Ziegler, Mrs. James Sims and son, East St. Louis, Mrs. George Sharp, Benton, Mrs. Joseph Sabatella, Chicago, Miss Margaret Houston, Springfield, the Rev. and Mrs. James Upchurch, Ridgway, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Tison, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Tison, Mr. and Mrs. Mood Choiser, Mrs. Edith Coxan, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Upchurch and son, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Swader, Mrs. Bessie Bramlet, Mrs. Gladys Baker, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Skelton, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baker and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bramlet, Mrs. R. S. Martin, Mrs. Lola Wills and Mr. and Mrs. William Wills, of Eldorado.

500 Dead, 2000 Hurt In India Stampede To Sacred Waters

ALLAHABAD, India (AP)—Five hundred men, women and children were reported killed today and 2,000 injured in a stampede of pilgrims seeking to wash their sins away in sacred waters at the confluence of the Ganges and Jumna rivers.

The victims were trampled to death or impaled on the three-pronged spears of naked holy men who were trapped with the victims in an almost incredible crush of five million persons on this holiest day in the Hindu century.

President Rajendra Prasad was among those who had come here for the festival.

It was the feast of the Kumbh bathing rite festival. Today was the big day of the festival, which is India's greatest.

Also, because of the favorable positions of the sun, the moon and the planet Jupiter, astrologers had proclaimed it the holiest and most auspicious day for the rite in 100 years.

The Daily Register, Harrisburg, Illinois

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Ex-clusively Yours: Let the birds, the singers and the air pilots solo, Mitzi Gaynor's checking out as a solo hooper after she gets her first whack at spinning with a male partner in her next movie, "There's No Business Like Show Business."

Twirling alone, she says, got her critical cheers, but no valentines from movie audiences in such supermusicals at Fox as
"The I Don't Care Girl" and
"Golden Girl."

But she's expecting the love-and-kisses treatment when she teams up with Donald O'Connor in the backstage musical.

Says Mitzi: "The movie public doesn't fall in love with a solo dancer. People think it's nice, but they don't go over what you've done. But if you get a partner, they eat it up. The movie public fell in love with Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire. They fell in love with Gene Kelly and Vera Ellen. It has something to do with two people moving together. It's box-office."

Dale Robertson spent the morning in court on a predivorce property settlement hearing, then reported to the set of "The Gambler From Natchez" for a fight scene.

"Let's put a lot of action into it," enthused Director Henry Roland.

"I don't know if I can," winced
Dale. "I just had all the fight taken out of me."

THEY STARTED TOGETHER
THERE'S a heart warming story behind the flash from Italy that Dennis O'Keefe will direct and star in "None So Blind" in Rome this spring. The script was written by Steve Caruthers, a movie bit player. Dennis and Steve broke into the movies together — as extras.

Myrna Dell, who didn't get along with the producer, won't be in the new batch of China Smith films. A new slant-eyed dazzler will be found to play opposite Dan Duray.

Sight of the week: Peter Lawford's mother, Lady Lawford, standing in line to pick up her social security check. Co-crime Calvert and John Bromfield have been having secret dates.

It's "Time for Freberg." And it's about time. The guy's loaded with talent.

After five years of playing Cecil the Seaside Sea Serpent on TV's "Time For Beany," Stan
Freberg's bowing off the show for big-league stardom as '54's most promising new comedian. He already has his own radio show, CBS' "That's Rich," in which he explains:

"I play sort of a male Claudia.
Now that TV is here, I'm on radio. But this is a great TV show, too, and I expect we'll be rolling in the camera's soon."

Just counting his recording profits keeps Stan busy these days. You know the records — his murderous satire of "C'est Si Bon" and his hilarious funpoking at TV's "Dragonet" with "St.
George and the Dragonet."

The radio networks banned
Stan's first satire, 1948's kidding of soap operas. The record, "John and Marsha," was ruled "suggestive," but insiders claim too many soap-opera sponsors complained.

For three and a half minutes
Stan just repeated the names,
"John," and "Marsha," with different voice inflections.

He still winces. "How can that be called suggestive?"

WILL JUMP AT BROADWAY
ALEC GUINNESS won't accept Hollywood offers, but he's told movietowners he will jump at the chance to star in a Broadway musical revue. Red Skelton is slated to do two of his TV shows in New York next month, plus a guest spot on the Jackie Gleason show.

'Buck-a-Head' Political Fund Studied by AFL

MIAMI BEACH (AP)—The American Federation of Labor's political "watchdogs" looked over 1954 off-year election prospects today and considered prospects of the AFL "buck-a-head" war chest collection drive.

Members of the AFL Executive Council recessed their annual conference for one day for the session of the Labor's League for Political Education, in which the council members act as ex-officio members.

Neither AFL President George Meany nor James L. McDevitt, league director, would disclose in advance the details of any action being proposed in connection with this year's political campaigns.

They said, however, that a part of the third session of the annual committee conference Thursday would be used for discussing the league's drive for contributions of $1 each from the 10,000,000 AFL members.

This campaign is estimated to yield slightly more than five million dollars to the AFL kitty for political activity each year.

Hits Housing Program

The 1954 executive committee conference thus far has produced a denunciation of President Eisenhower's housing program as being "unrealistic," and an expression of concern over the "rapid rise of unemployment" in recent months.

The executive council Tuesday disclosed details of a "bold and comprehensive" housing program calling for the mass construction of 600,000 low-rent housing units within three years.

The council proposed an urban redevelopment program, government assistance for middle income home buyers and better protection of the buyer's pocketbook under federal assistance programs.

The AFL termed the administration's housing program as being out of reach of low-income buyers and added that today the biggest single housing expense is "the cost of hiring money" with which to buy a home.

Distilleries often were operated in conjunction with early grist mills in Southern Illinois, thus enabling the miller to convert surplus grain and meal into a marketable product.

Come A-Smokin' by Nelson Rye

THE STORY: Mistaken for Luke Usher, who ran away after his father, Jake Usher, was murdered, Grete Marratt, an escaped convict, has been befriended by Dr. Frailey, a friend of the Ushers. Marratt was suffering from a bullet wound inflicted by an unseen gunman who apparently also mistook him for Luke when Marratt first appeared in the Arizona town of Bella Loma. Marratt decides to hide under the assumed identity. Then a visitor, Clint Gainer, appears claiming to be an old friend of Luke's. Clint offers Marratt $6000 for the title to the Usher ranch.

Grete Marratt grinned without speaking. Gainer squirmed around inside his clothes and looked flustered. "All right I'll give you eight!" "Eight thousand dollars for 24,000 acres. Is that pulling me out of a hole?" "You don't have 24,000 acres—all you've got's the title!" "What about Jake's cattle?" "How many can you produce?" "That remains to be seen. I can always send Ryerson a bill for what's missing." Gainer snorted. "You kin fly a kit, too, but what good'll it do you? Way things stand right now you couldn't get six cents on the dollar for this place with Wineglass riders workin' four sides of it an' Wineglass cattle gobblin' up the grass!"

Marratt said coldly, "The only way it makes sense you'd give me $8000 for the deed to this spread presupposes you're convinced I've come back to kill Ryerson. I haven't; but on that basis—and providing I was able to get the job done—you'd have title to a property worth around eight times what it cost you. Not to mention any cattle you might be able to round up."

Angry color jumped into Gainer's scowling cheeks. "You can't use the place anyway. You got no money to stock it—no way of gettin' Ryerson's stock off. Even with the cash to do it you couldn't get a crew that would go up ag'in Wineglass. If you funk killin' Ryerson he'll run you outta the country. If you avenge your pappy, like any guy with a lick o' gumption would do, you'll still hev to run. So what good's this place to you?"

He got out a roll of bank notes and stood peering at Marratt smugly. "There it is. All I want is your name on a quitclaim."

"Yes," Marratt thought, "that is really all he wants."

Gainer, obviously knowing more about Luke than Marratt had, produced a flask from his pocket and set it down on the table beside that thick sheaf of currency. "Reckoned you might like a nip—"

The oily smile suddenly whisked out of sight in Gainer's whiskers as he fell back in alarm before the look of Marratt's eyes.

"Pick up your bottle and your money," Marratt said, coming off the couch, "and get outside that door before my temper gets away from me."

Several afternoons later Marratt, getting out of the saddle before the administration offices at the Malicor agency, left the horse Doc Frailey had hired for him on grounded reins beside a similarly anchored head-tossing bay filly.

The cavity behind the door turned out to be a quite spacious office. Dust-covered Indian artifacts were arranged on boards hung about the walls. A comely squaw in a beaded headband looked up from a desk. Marratt told her that he'd like to have a talk with the agent.

"Stanley Beckwith," she said. She extracted several slips from the sheaf she'd been going through, rubber-banded the rest and dropped them into a drawer. She went off down the hallway. Pretty efficient, Marratt thought, and wondered where Beckwith had found himself a squaw with sufficient education to serve as office help.

The man who came in was stoop-shouldered, tall, and so thin he'd have to stand twice to cast a shadow. The skin of his face was like yellow parchment in the blind-filtered light coming in through the window as, with a querulous glance, he gave Marratt a nod. "I've no range to lease if that's what you're here for."

"Thought, perhaps," Marratt said, "you might be needing some beef?" The agent looked as though he were about to say no but, as his mouth came open, something changed his mind. He picked up a penknife and got to work on his nail. "What... ah... kind of beef?"

"Cheap," Marratt growled. "Customarily we purchase beef supplies by contract."

"I know all that," Marratt said, fed up with fencing. "I've sold beef to Indian agencies before. This beef is priced right. Can you use it now or can't you?"

Beckwith's look turned cagey. "Where are you getting this beef?" "Where do you suppose I'm getting it?" From my own spread, naturally."

"Naturally," Beckwith smiled. "Now suppose you tell me with what iron it is branded?" "Do you find certain brands to be more palatable than others?" Beckwith managed a rusty chuckle. He laid aside the penknife and pyramided his fingers into the shape of a steeple. "We are forced to be careful."

"Look," Marratt said, "I've got some beef to sell now. I don't know what I'll have later. I might close out this ranch and go somewhere else. I'm not trying to hurry you into a deal but if you can't use this stuff just say so."

70 Attend School
On Proper Venting of Gas-Fueled Equipment

A group of 70 persons, consisting of Liquid Petroleum gas men, utility service men and local plumbers and heating contractors, attended a school on proper venting of gas-fueled equipment at the Harrisburg Wesley Center Tuesday night.

The meeting was one of a series of 25 being held throughout Indiana and Illinois.

H. C. Lewis, in discussing the school, said meetings of this kind are designed as a public service. Everyone in attendance is shown the latest and most modern methods of proper venting, which results in better service to the public who use gas for house heating, water heating, clothes drying and cooking, he pointed out.

The school was conducted by George McClellon of William Wallace Co. of California and was sponsored by the Illinois Liquefied Petroleum Gas association.

Specialist Visits Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII was reported much more comfortable today after spending the most restful night since he became ill 10 days ago with an attack of gastritis.

Vatican sources said the hiccup which had been plaguing the pontiff had almost vanished, and he was able to sleep without interruption Tuesday night.

"Because of this, the Pope is much more comfortable this morning," a high Vatican source said. It was also disclosed an unidentified German specialist has been assisting Prof. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi, the Pope's physician.

The sources said the German doctor was using Swiss medicine to build up the pontiff's strength. Despite his restful night, the Pope still was too fatigued to celebrate Mass in the small private chapel which adjoins his bedroom.

This was the fourth straight morning he was unable to say Mass although he has been receiving Holy Communion as usual.

He was well enough to hold his daily morning conference today with co-Secretary of State Monsignor Domenico Tardini on Vatican affairs.

Plane Hits Boat Factory; Two Dead

GRAND PRAIRIE, Tex. (AP)—Witnesses said today the pilot of an F80 Shooting Star jet fighter plane apparently swerved to avoid a group of houses before his plane crashed into a boat factory, killing two persons.

The pilot, Capt. James C. Smith of nearby Dallas, was reported in "satisfactory" condition. Attendants at the veterans hospital said he had cuts on the forehead and nose.

The plane burst into flames when it hit a stack of finished boats and lodged in the back of the factory, where about 250 persons were working. Smith released his automatic plane seat ejector as he was about to crash, and was thrown clear of the wreckage.

CIPS Evidence Meager, ICC Examiner Says

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The Illinois Commerce Commission examiner hearing the $4,260,000 rate increase case of Central Illinois Public Service Co. said today the firm's presentation of evidence has been "rather meager."

Examiner Lawrence A. Glenn's remark on the company's case came when an objector's lawyer asked for a breakdown in the company's claim it spent 94 million dollars for plant expansion since 1946.

Glenn said he "hated to deny the request" because of the "rather meager" presentation, but added the company's lawyers said it would take them months to prepare the requested breakdown.

A more detailed accounting of the expansion figure had been asked by Harold Madsen, attorney and former ICC examiner representing the city of Quincy. Madsen said he thought the extra information might show a "discrepancy" between the company's original cost figures and the estimated reproduction cost of the plant. He said he believes the firm has not been depreciating its property at a high enough rate to show a true plant value, and thereby a higher rate of return.

Dorrisville, Ridgway Advance to Semi-Finals in District Tournament

Dorrisville and Ridgway advanced to the semi-finals of the District Junior high basketball tournament last night, defeating Raleigh and New Haven respectively, in games at the Equality grade school gym.

Dorrisville stopped Raleigh, 50-36, and Ridgway edged New Haven, 30-28.

Tonight, Muddy will meet Equality at 6:15 and Mill Shoals will clash with New Shawneetown at 7:30 in quarter-final battles. Dorrisville and Ridgway will pair off in the second game tomorrow night.

Raleigh clung to Dorrisville for a half, trailing only 20-15 at the intermission, but the Harrisburg club moved away steadily in the second half. They led 37-19 going into the final period.

Looking AT Sports

By W. K. TIM TURNER
Daily Register Staff Writer

The first Saline county basketball tournament is over and now we can gaze back and appraise it.

To begin with, let's look into the financial aspects.

Did you know that financially speaking it was a greater success—much greater—than the Egyptian holiday tournament held at West Frankfort at Christmas-time?

Here are the figures:

The financial statement of the West Frankfort meet shows a net loss of $119.90 believe it or not. It shows receipts of $1,846.85 and total expenditures of $1,966.75.

How could it lose money? Here's how the expenses are broken down for the eight-team meet: Officials $270.40, trophies and ball $119.35, printing, advertising and telephone bills $58, faculty, janitorial and police help $483, lights, heat etc. $120, team expenses $916. That adds up to the total.

In the holiday meet Harrisburg got $74 expense money and Carrier Mills two or three dollars more because of the added mileage to West Frankfort. That's all they got, brother.

Now let us turn to the financial statement of the four-team Saline county tournament.

With just two sessions here instead of four, as was the case at West Frankfort, our gross receipts were $1,892.75. That's nearly $50 more than was taken in at twice the number of sessions at Frankfort, where they had powerhouses like Mt. Vernon and Edwardsville to increase the take!

Our expenses totaled only $581, which left net receipts of $1,311.75.

Then, dividing the $1,311.75 four ways, it means that the athletic departments of Galatia, Carrier Mills, Eldorado and Harrisburg are better off by $327.94. That's pretty good, don't you think? It can buy a lot of basketball equipment.

In case you're interested, our expenses were broken down as follows: Officials $225, trophies $50, postcard and faculty help $144, police $20, printing and advertising $67, lights, heat and water $75.

You'll note that in the Saline county meet, each team took care of its expenses in coming and going, but with the towns so close together they were negligible. The $327.94 is almost all clear profit.

We'll have to agree that the first annual Saline county tournament was a financial success.

It's a meet that should be run off year after year. We have a place right here in Harrisburg that is big enough to handle the crowds. It's right in the center of population, with Carrier Mills and Eldorado travelling only seven miles and Galatia 10 to get here.

It's up to the people who go as to whether it will continue to be a success year after year. Not the kids but the adults.

The kids do all right but sometimes adults get out of hand—especially if a game is close right down to the nub.

This year the attitudes were fine. There was some booing but not too much, and three of the four games must be termed as close ones. Personally, I thought the officiating was excellent except in one game, and nobody got hurt by it in that one. Everybody's entitled to a bad night once in a while, no matter what the endeavor may be. And, too, maybe there are plenty who do not agree with me and think all the calling was good. I hope you do.

The attitudes of the boys on the floor were pretty well perfect and I've always said that if the fans could behave half as well as the players, there'd never be any incidents.

So it's up to us fans to keep this tournament a success through the years. The schools, players and students will do their part and we can continue to keep up this year's fine start.

The tourney can be a great thing for all of us in the area. It brings us closer together and the days of boundaries are gone. We're one big area working for the good of us all instead of being separate cities with walls thrown up.

It's a good thing, this Saline county tournament. With four good teams so close together playing, it's not hard on the players or the fans to make the short trip to Dayton gym. Let's keep it a fine thing.

And a final note about our Bull Dogs. They finished fourth in a field of four but they must be given credit for fighting. They played Eldorado close and then scored 72 points against Galatia, although of course Galatia scored 91.

We've mentioned lack of experience on the team several times, but we're going to point out here just how little experience most boys have had.

To begin with, there are three squads at HTHS. There's the varsity, the freshman-sophomore team that plays the preliminary games; and the freshman team, composed of frosh who haven't made the freshman-sophomore team.

Let's look into the experience of the entire varsity team of ten:

David Anglin, a sophomore, one year as regular on freshman-sophomore team.

Dave Harrison, a junior, two years as regular on freshman-sophomore team.

Gerald Wasson, a junior, not out as freshman, a substitute for Harrison last year on freshman-sophomore team.

Richard Gidcomb, a senior, two years as regular on freshman-sophomore team and one year as regular on varsity.

Ronnie Kiegl, a senior, two years on freshman-sophomore team but not a regular until latter part of sophomore year and although on varsity squad last year saw very little action.

Don Price, a junior, on freshman team first year and played part of schedule as regular on freshman-sophomore team second year.

In the fall of the year, before corn was dry enough to grind at the grist mills, the new corn was often "gritted" and bread was made of the resulting meal. This bread was considered a treat.

Stan Musial IN THE Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK — Stan Musial, six-time batting champion of the National League, served notice today on rival hitters that he has at least three peak years left and is out to write his name indelibly into the record books.

There were pointed hints last season, as Musial labored dolorously at the plate, that the slugging star of the St. Louis Cardinals might be reaching the end of the trial. He disproved that with a blazing stretch run for a final average of .337, seven points back of league leader Carl Furillo.

"That's the best comeback I ever made," the fit Musial insisted as he eagerly awaited spring training. "I won't have to make a late run like that again."

Admits "Mistake"

Musial, who still hopes to surpass Honus Wagner's record eight batting titles as well as Rogers Hornsby's second-place seven, admitted that he made a "mistake" last season.

"I tried to pull my way out of my slump," he asserted. "I didn't try to slap the ball to left field. I was stubborn. I think I only bunted once all year, and I could have gotten a lot of base hits if I'd been smart."

Stan's disgust is evident as he recalls that he was hitting only .180 at one stage last season — "the lowest I can ever remember hitting" — and on June 15 he was up to but .220.

"I have no excuse," he said. "I had a good spring, hitting over .400 most of the time. Then we ran into a lot of bad weather and I believe that's what ruined me. I just lost my legs and then couldn't get it back, although now I know I could have helped myself a lot by bunting or trying to slap to left. You can bet it won't happen again."

Certainly Musial's comeback was sensational.

Two Targets

It was a long, gruelling climb from the hitting depths to which he had sunk, yet at season's end his .337 was only seven points back of Furillo's winning .344 and five points back of second place Red Schoendienst.

Two other times, Musial finished second in the batting race, else now he might already have tied the immortal Wagner with eight batting championships. His .347 in 1944 was 10 points back of Dixie Walker and his .338 in 1949 was only four points behind Jackie Robinson's winning .342.

"If I had won those two in which I finished second, Musial smiles, "I'd be in good shape right now."

Which, of course, he still is, particularly if, as he contends, he has three "peak" years left.

In the realm of conjecture, had he won those two and not lost another of his promising years in service, Musial today still might have had hopes of matching or surpassing Ty Cobb's mark of 12 hitting crowns. As it is, Hornsby's seven and Wagner's eight are his targets — and with three "peak" years he could make it, too.

Junior High Fives Split Games On Marion Floor

The Harrisburg Junior high cagers travelled to Marion Tuesday evening and split a pair of games. The local seventh grade team won, 50-32, but the eighth grade squad dropped a one-point decision, 37-36.

Failure at the free throw line spelled defeat for the locals as they hit but five in 21 tries, missing 12 in as many attempts in the opening frame.

Harrisburg trailed 10-8 at the quarter, 23-18 at the half and 30-28 after three quarters of play.

Harrisburg players seeing action in the eighth grade game were Biggs, Clark, Price, Yates, Abel, Stanley and Druce.

Playing for the seventh grade team were Henshaw, Druce, Walker, Raub, Beggs, Pavelonis, Karnes, Maynard, Martin, Abney, Hodge, Woolcott, Roper and Smith.

This closed out the regular schedule for the Junior high school team but regional tourney play gets underway next week with Harrisburg scheduled to face Carrier Mills in the opening game at 6 p. m. Monday. The tourney will be held at Carmi.

The pioneer stump mill was made by hollowing out the top of a stump or the end of a short section of log for the mortar and using the rounded end of another section of log for the pestle. The pestle was often suspended from the limb of a tree that served to lift it after the downward stroke.

Seats in early Southern Illinois schoolrooms were made of split logs with the flat side smoothed off and with wooden pegs of suitable length serving as legs.

Wildcats Trip Vienna, 76-70

Carrier Mills and Vienna engaged in a free scoring battle last night with the Wildcats the winners, 76-70. The game was played on the Vienna floor.

Probably the most satisfying feature of the game, from the Carrier Mills standpoint, was the well balanced attack by the starting five. Each of the starters scored in double figures, one getting 11 points, two having 12 each, another having 19 and the wood man hitting for 20 markers.

The Wildkittens dropped the preliminary game, 58-37.

Carrier Mills will be idle until next Tuesday, Feb. 9, when the McLeansboro Foxes will visit the "Cats" gymnasium.

FEBRUARY FISHING WAS GOOD yesterday at the long borrow pit that runs alongside the levee at the city reservoirs north of the city, as can be determined by taking a look at Jack Pallister, P. J. Herron and Link David (left to right in foreground), who hold up specimens. The fishing was done with nets under the supervision of the Illinois Department of Conservation with Horace Ritchey, conservation officer, in charge. The idea was to remove the rough fish, which consisted of buffalo and carp, while the water was low enough for seines, and throw back game fish that were caught in the nets. About 1200 pounds of fish were brought out of the water, one of the men stated. Those who assisted Ritchey were volunteer townspeople. (A. Sweat Photo)

Bevo Francis Sets Scoring Record with 113 Points in 134-91 Rio Grande Victory

NEW YORK (AP) — The fantastic Southwest Conference, pushed its Bevo Francis, who "thought" he might have a "good night," sent a 75-69 victory over Southern Methodist.

Francis' amazing one-man show in Rio Grande College's 134-91 victory over Hillsdale College of Michigan stole the spotlight from the major college teams Tuesday night in an action-packed evening that also saw unbeaten Kentucky, the nation's No. 1 team, win its 14th game easily and Kansas knocked out of first place in the Big Seven conference.

"I told the boys before the game I thought I might have a good night," was the only explanation the bashful Bevo offered of his 113-point spree in the Jackson, Ohio, High School auditorium.

Accepted As New Mark

Francis burned the cords with 28 field goals and 37 free throws as he topped the all-time single game record of 84 points which he himself set earlier this year against Bluffton College. The major-college single game record remains at 73 points, set by Bill Milky of Temple in 1951 against Wilkes College.

Bevo's spurge Tuesday night falls three points short of his personal single game high of 116 points, set last year against Dallas Junior College. Because his opposition was a junior college, that performance never was recognized as a record by the NCAA. However, Hillsdale is a four-year college, and, in New York, the NCAA's statistics bureau confirmed that Tuesday night's 113 point mark would be accepted as a new mark.

Kansas, Dayton Lose

Kentucky had no trouble in subduing winless Georgia Tech, 99-48, at Louisville. Georgia Tech now has 14 defeats in 14 games.

At Boulder, Colo., Kansas was handed its first Big Seven loss of the season, 70-62, by Colorado. The loss left Nebraska (4-0) alone atop the league standings and dropped defending champion Kansas into a second-place tie with Colorado.

Dayton and Temple also were upset victims Tuesday night. Dayton bowed to Loyola of the South, 78-68, at New Orleans. Temple was beaten by Princeton, 68-62, at Princeton as Bud Haabestad led the Tigers with 19 points.

Aga Khan Receives Platinum for His 215 Pounds; To Aid Pakistan Followers

KARACHI, Pakistan (U.P.) — The Aga Khan was seven pounds overweight when he sat down on a rotating scale before 50,000 persons to collect his weight in platinum today.

He had been expected to weigh in at 208 pounds, but he actually weighed 215.

However, the Aga Khan, one of the world's richest men, ordered the scales rigged against himself as an economy measure.

So, when he sat down it compensated for his great weight. Each ounce of platinum counterweight equalled 14 of the Aga Khan's pounds.

When 15 1/3 ounces of platinum were placed in the silver tray in a ritual lasting about five minutes, they balanced his full weight.

As they did, the scale flashed brilliantly, signaling to the crowd that this was the weight of their leader.

Thus was enacted the centuries old ceremony commemorating his 70th anniversary as head of the Ismaili Moslem sect.

In previous years, the Aga Khan had received his weight in gold and again in diamonds. The proceeds invariably are donated to charity.

This year, he ordered the amount of platinum produced for the ceremony to be drastically reduced. It was merely a symbol.

"You've shown your gesture," he told his followers. "Now I order you to use it for a better cause."

The cause will be a loan agency which the Aga Khan ordered to give financial aid to 30,000 Pakistan followers so that they may set up businesses or professions by 1960.

Achievement Report Read at Kiwanis Meeting

Ralph Woolard, Kiwanis club secretary, last night at the Masonic temple read the achievement report for the club for last year. The report showed an average of 86 per cent attendance, and increase in membership, and co-sponsorship of a new club at Cave-in-Rock.

Activities included the Angus Calf club by which 18 calves were purchased by high school students in Saline county; other agriculture activities including Farmers' night, an Angus Ass'n field day; sponsorship of the Kiwanis Junior baseball league in which 22 teams participated last summer with more than 300 boys taking part; assistance in the Boy Scout and Salvation Army drives, support of the lake drive, business district Christmas lighting, National Kids' day, bicycle safety program, sponsorship of a club group church attendance and support of a "Go to Church Program."

These were only a few of the club's annual activities and others included the maintenance of an underprivileged children's fund.

Fred Wunderlich, committee chairman for the installation of chewing gum machines throughout the city, reported several have been installed around town and that more would soon be installed. The machines are recognized by Kiwanis International and the local club's percentage of money received from the sale of gum will go into its underprivileged children's fund. He also reported the outfitting of a school child with clothes and purchasing of school lunch for the child for the remainder of the school year.

President John Schork announced the club will have ladies' night next Tuesday, Feb. 9, with a Valentine Day program. He also announced that Eugene Irvin, a club member, will head the Saline County Red Cross drive.

Pierce Irvin was a guest of H. C. Dempsey at last night's meeting.

See Indictments In Labor Rackets By Grand Jury

EAST ST. LOUIS 11-—A federal grand jury investigating labor racketeering in the Eastern District of Illinois concludes its first three-day session today with the likelihood that indictments will be returned before the inquiry is completed.

U. S. Atty. Clifford M. Raemer said Tuesday that interim reports or indictments may be returned by the grand jury during the investigation.

The remainder of the 27 witnesses, mostly contractors, subpoenaed for the first session were scheduled to be heard today.

Raemer explained the jury will hear testimony for three or four days at a time and then recess for about a week to compile additional information.

The inquiry, which is expected to be lengthy, encompasses 45 southern Illinois counties.

Carpentier Plans Early Crack Down On Motorists Delinquent in '54 License Plates

By DON CHAMBERLAIN
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special)—It hasn't been officially decided yet, but motorists who are delinquent in getting their 1954 passenger automobile license plates had better hurry. The deadline to be set by Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier's office is not far away. Best guess is that there will be state patrolmen and Secretary of State automobile investigators at major road intersections handing out arrest or warning tickets on or about March 1.

Secretary Carpentier is planning for the earliest crackdown on Illinois motorists who are delinquent in obtaining their license plates. He will give them one more chance to further comply with the state law which requires every motorist to have his plates on the first day of the year, then comes the crackdown.

Carpentier said that he has not set a definite date for notifying law enforcement officers to arrest errant motorists but that it will be the earliest date ever attempted in the last 20 years. Inasmuch as April 1 has been the usual deadline for crackdowns on delinquent car owners, a good guess could be plans to act before that date—perhaps March 1.

Plans of Secretary Carpentier are understood to call for first, a warning, then arrests. Right now he feels that because of the past custom of allowing motorists to be delinquent for three months or more, it is better to educate them, then if they fail to act, have state, city and county police pick them up.

As of now, Secretary Carpentier said, the automobile department of his office has never been in as good a shape to handle license plate applications. He said current applications are being processed within 24 hours and that the number of license plates issued as of Jan. 28 was 100,000 ahead of January 28, 1953.

The number of plates issued as of last week was 1,532,000 as compared with 1,052,000 on the same day last year. Of the plates issued 438,000 were sold over the counter of the Chicago office of the automobile department compared with 388,000 in 1953, and 714,000 in Springfield and by mail as compared with 664,000 last year.

Although the Secretary as yet has not decided on the definite date for notification of state and city police, county sheriffs and other law enforcement officers of the deadline for obtaining plates, he is expected this week to draft a memorandum which will go to his automobile investigators ordering them to stop delinquents and give them a warning slip.

the new anti-rabies law. The board rejected a finance committee recommendation that the county set up enforcement. Inquiry here disclosed that Stillman J. Stanard, director of the state department of agriculture, planned to confer with Atty. Gen. Latham A. Castle as to steps to compel the board to act.

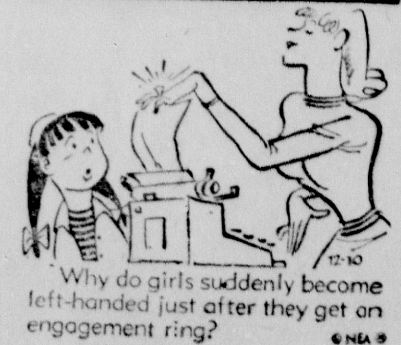

Stanard said he did confer with Castle and came to the conclusion there was no way for him to compel the board to act. He said it is his belief that it is up to a citizen or the state's attorney of Adams county to seek a court order against the county board. He said a penalty in the law apparently is not applicable to county board members and that there is nothing the state agriculture director can do until a program of enforcement is set up.

The law became effective last July 1 and under its provision all dogs running loose must be inoculated against rabies. Stray dogs not inoculated are to be kept in pounds and the owner given seven days to redeem his pet. Adams county officials say there are 6,000 dogs in the county and that it would cost $15,000 to inoculate all of them. Another official said he didn't see the sense in the law because only 20 persons in the US suffered rabies last year.

The law provides that a county SHALL appoint a chief rabies inspector and that he in turn name deputies who would be licensed veterinarians. Stanard said he didn't think a provision calling for a fine of from $10 to $50 against any officers failing or refusing to carry out the law would apply to members of a county board. The Agriculture department supervises administration.

Property owners needn't fear a state tax for 1954. The State Levy Board, comprised of Gov. William G. Stratton, State Auditor Orville Hodge and State Treasurer Elmer J. Hoffman met the other day and decided that as long as the state had the two cent retail sales tax it wouldn't be necessary to levy a tax on property for financing of state government. The state property tax hasn't been levied since 1932. It was replaced by the sales tax.
